

Tonya RENADA MOORE

UNIQUELY MADE, ALL A PART OF GOD'S PLAN

At an early age, Tonya was diagnosed with Alopecia Areata, a hair loss, and autoimmune deficiency disease. There are several types of Alopecia and at the time of this writing, there is no known cure.

Because she was bullied as a child, Tonya developed a lack of self-esteem and learned to hate everything about her looks. She didn't go out for certain sports, or other childhood extra-curriculum activities that would possibly expose her to more ridicule. She was ashamed and embarrassed because of her hair loss.

For years, Tonya believed that God was punishing her for something she had done wrong. She just wanted to be normal. She wanted to have hair like the rest of her family and friends and for a brief time, she did. Only to be disappointed once again when her hair started to fall out again.

It wasn't until she was well into adulthood that she stopped looking in the mirror finding all her flaws and began to see all the things that made her unique. Then, and only then, did she become comfortable in her own skin.

And now she wants to help other women and especially young girls who suffer from low self-esteem and low self-image as a result of some physical imperfection, to learn to love themselves just the way they are.

She believes that accepting the things you can not control and changing the things you can early in life, is the key to living a healthy, happy, and full life. Tonya believes we're all "uniquely made" and made by God's design. And focusing on your positive attributes, skills, and talents will help build your self-esteem, and in turn, build your self-image and your self-worth.

Tonya is available for speaking opportunities that cater to young girls and women of all ages who need encouragement, tips, and tools to help them to "THRIVE" in spite of their "unique" imperfections. #embracetheskinyourin
